

TERROR IN THE PARADISE
Chronicles of a New Major Threat for Tourism and Hospitality

Maximiliano E. Korstanje
Universidad de Palermo
Buenos Aires, Argentina
*Ericka Amorim
Instituto Politécnico de Tomar
Tomar, Portugal

Over the recent years, terrorism has radicalized to the extent to vulnerate innocent global civilians who enjoy of leisure spots and tourist destinations. For some voices, modern consumption is the milestone that explains the clash between Occident and Orient while for others this evinces a rapid alternative to instill panic in the society. This special issue is oriented to respond a difficult question, Why terrorists target tourist destinations?

KEY WORDS: terrorism, risk, tourism, consumption, tourist destinations.